Ex-Lient-Gov. Knight Dead.

WAS A DELEGATE TO THE CONVENTION THAT NOMINATED LINCOLN.

NORTHAMPTON, Oct. 16.—Ex-Lieutenant Governor H. G. Knight died at his home at Easthampton this morning. He was elected lieutenant-governor in 1874. He was a delegate to the convention that nominated Abraham Lincoln.

A LARGE CHURCH EVENT.

Besides Bishop Fowler's Sermon the Program Will Have Interesting Features.

The first service to be held in the Methodist church after the extensive improvements that have been made will be one of the church events of this town's history. It has been announced in the TRANSCRIPT that Bishop Fowler of Chicago will be present and preach at the morning service. The bishop is one of the leading thinkers and orators in the Methodist church and his coming to this town is no small honor to the church that has influence enough to bring him and besides it is an honor to the town.

Outside of the bishop's sermon the morning program will be much like the regular Sunday morning service. Instead of the regular Sunday school session there will be a Sunday school rally at which it is expected that all the living Sunday school ex-superintendents will take part. It may not be possible to gather together all these superintendents, but those who cannot come will send letters so they will be represented in some way.

Similar to this program will be the evening's program. In the evening Miss Grace Davis will give a history of the church from the very beginning. All the former pastors who cannot come will be represented by letter. As Miss Davis progresses in the history and reaches the epoch marked by a certain pastor's work that pastor will rise and give an account of his stewardship. If he should not be present his letter will be read instead and so will progress the history. No better person could have been selected to be the church's historian than Miss Davis. From her graduation essay until the present time her public appearances have been very creditable.

Besides all these literary efforts there will be a grand musical program arranged by Professor Tower, as was stated in yesterday's TRANSCRIPT. There will be forty voices in the chorus that will fill with harmony the remodeled building and there will be soloists besides. Professor Tower has not yet completed the program, but he will have no person assist in the musical part of the exercises who is from out-of-town.

LIVERYMEN ORGANIZING.

Will Stand Together Here as They do In Other Places.

The liverymen are talking of forming an organization for their mutual advantage and protection, as is done in many other places. The organization is not for the purpose of raising prices, but to establish a uniform scale and do away with the extreme and unfair competition that sometimes results from business rivalry, and also to protect its members from loss at the hands of irresponsible or dishonest patrons. A meeting was held last night and the liverymen present were in favor of such an organization, which will probably be perfected at an early day. The results of such an organization have proven very satisfactory in other places and the local liverymen feel that the experiment is worth trying here.

—Dr. McDowell is treating a cow owned by a man at the Five Roads. The animal is suffering from variol, or cow pox, the disease that is known as small pox when afflicting the human family. The disease of the cow manifests itself chiefly on the udder and teats and is not considered dangerous.

—The Windsor company has begun the foundation for an addition to the calendar room. The building will be of brick, thirty-five by fifty feet and one story high, and will be built by Porter & Hannum. The roof of the large building erected by the Windsor company this summer is on and the building will soon be ready for use.

—There is a fashion plate on exhibition in P. J. Boland's window which was brought from Boston in 1830 by Mason Dixby, who was a tailor and a brother of W. H. Dixby. The plate is a French one and the matter printed on it is in the French language. It has three figures, two women and a man. The man's garb, trimmed, contrasts strangely with the dandy of his companions which shows a liberal quantity of the feminine charms. The plate is a rare one and highly valued.

—The Artesian well pump was stopped Sunday morning, the heavy rain having furnished a good supply of water for present use, and it is hoped that no more pumping will be necessary this fall. Monday the Notch brook was running at the rate of two million gallons in twenty-four hours and of course Broad brook was swollen in proportion. The pump was started about August 23 and has been run most of the time since, yet the pumping season has not been so long as it was last year, when the machinery was run fifty-four days.

—An accident occurred on the road opposite the Eclipse mill Monday evening in which four persons were badly shaken up. A carriage going in an opposite direction about 6:30 o'clock and all the occupants of the Briggsville rig were thrown to the ground. The carriage was turned over and damaged considerably. A lady in the party was injured, but not seriously, and the others were badly bruised. The demolished team belonged to Bert Lord, bookkeeper of the Linwood mill and the other team was driven by Harry Dawson of Briggsville.

CAPITAL AND LABOR.

Dr. Washington Gladden's Report to the Triennial Congregational Council.

POSITION OF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

The Application of the Law of Love to the Regulation of Business Relations. Such an Application is Practicable, Some Already so Ruled.

North Adams has had the privilege of developing some great men or has had the honor of having some great men develop within her borders. Among those in the ranks of greatness is Dr. Washington Gladden of Columbus, Ohio, a former pastor of the Congregational church in this town. The departure of such great men from this community, an irremovable source of regret though considered with the unavoidable and the inevitable, does not end the interest taken in them and their work in proof of which is here printed Dr. Gladden's report to the triennial council of the Congregational church held at Syracuse, N. Y., on the relation between capital and labor. The report is as it was printed in yesterday's Springfield Republican. It was given Monday and is as follows:

The months have been few during the last few years in which the soldiers of the states or of the nation have not been in requisition in some part of the country for the suppression of labor disturbances. There is a class of employers who do not study the things which make for peace, and who are not reluctant to have violent outbreaks occur, because, in their view, the calling of the troops for suppression teaches organized labor a lesson and weakens the power of the unions.

We are made aware of the existence of labor leaders who do not try to avert collisions between employers and employees, because they have no expectation that any peaceable solution of the existing difficulty will be found, and they are glad to have anything occur which will deepen the discontent and increase the exasperation of the working classes, since the final struggle in which the existing order will be overthrown is thus brought nearer. These two classes of strife promoters are all the while playing into each other's hands; each furnishes the other with the largest part of its excuse for being. We must admit the gradual widening and deepening of the gulf which separates the two classes. The question before us is what the Christian churches of the country can do to improve the industrial situation.

1. The Christian church is not required to take either side of this quarrel. Manifestly the right is not all on one side. 2. Nor is the church often called to act as umpire in labor disputes. There may be, there should be broad-minded Christian men who could act in this capacity; but it is not the function of the church. 3. The church is called to bear one clear word of testimony. It must declare and proclaim that all this bitter strife which constantly tends to break out in acts of violence, is needless and wicked; and that some way must be found of putting an end to it.

4. There is a subtle paganism underlying much of our literature, and finding utterance in the counting-room, and the newspaper office, and sometimes, though not often in these days, from the chair of the professional economist, which holds that strife is the normal relation of human beings; that the struggle for life must go on, the more fiercely the better, and that all attempts to mitigate it are bootless sentimentalism; that society is perfected by the warfare which eliminates the weak and enthrones the strong. When the church has sometimes ventured to challenge this philosophy she has been told preemptorily to stick to her own province, that her business is to save souls. One is curious to know what is meant by a soul's being lost if it is not lost when it accepts and practices this philosophy; and how any soul can be saved which continues to make this philosophy the rule of its life.

5. The Christian rule of life requires no impossibilities. It does not demand that any man shall destroy himself in serving his neighbor. Employers of labor sometimes deny that it is possible to conduct business enterprise on a philanthropic basis. They urge that if wages much higher than the market rate were paid, not only would there be no profit, but the capital itself would be speedily consumed and the business destroyed. Workmen, ed, undoubtedly, in their selfish consideration of their own interests, often demand the killing of the goose that lays the golden egg. The Christian law requires no employer to yield to any such demand.

6. Nevertheless there is a sense in which every Christian man's business must rest upon a philanthropic basis. The law of love is the law of every Christian man's life, and that law must furnish the regulative principle of his business. It requires an employer to ask for his services no more than is just and fair, and to give in return for his wages just as much and just as good service as he can. It does not require of him over work that shall impair his strength; it does not ask that he shall sacrifice his health for the promotion of his employer's welfare, but it expects him, by faithful, loyal, hearty, willing service, to do as much as he can for his employer's welfare.

The application of this law to the employer of labor is not less obvious. There may be occasions when he can get labor at starvation prices. Market prices are sometimes starvation prices. But he will not build up his own fortunes by the employment of men and women at wages which involve or threaten their physical or moral deterioration. The man who disobeys or evades this law of love in this relation is not a Christian, no matter how piously he may talk nor how many colleges he may build with his ill-gotten gains, nor how many ministers he may send on European tours.

7. The adoption of the Christian principle in industrial society must be the mutual act of employer and employee. 8. The serious effort to follow the Christian law in any industrial group might not immediately produce any great economic changes in that group. The wages of the workman might not be greatly increased, the profit of the employer might not be much affected. This

THE DOCTORS AGREE

With Prof. Sedgwick's Opinion Regarding the Cause of the Typhoid.

THAT BAD NOTCH BRANCH AGAIN.

The Opinions of the Professor in Regard to Disinfecting Fully Endorsed. The Sewer System Discussed. Instances in Support of Theories.

The regular meeting of the Northern Berkshire Medical association held last night at the Wilson was one of the most interesting that the association has had for some time. The attendance was good, the bill of fare fine and the discussion valuable. The topic was "Fever in this Section."

The doctors agreed with Prof. Sedgwick's report regarding the origin of typhoid fever in this town. They thought it came mostly from the north branch of the Hoosac river, which was so strongly condemned by the professor. Some of the doctors believed the town's sewer system to be a good one, but thought that the residences were not as generally connected with the sewers as they should be. The smallness of the sewers was talked about and some favored the sewers for that feature because there was little room left for the generation of noxious and unhealthful gases.

In support of the river origin theory of the typhoid fever one doctor stated that he has at present eight cases of typhoid fever. One of them is on Houghton street hill and the other seven are near the north branch of the river. That was considered very good evidence in support of the idea that the fever originates from the river bed which is almost dry at times. The doctors thought that flushing the sewers and perhaps flushing the river would be good sanitary measures.

In regard to the disinfecting recommended by Prof. Sedgwick the doctors agreed as much with that as with the other opinions of the professor. To show how much that is needed it may be interesting to state that some of the physicians reported that in several instances three and four members of a family became sick with the fever one after the other. Some of the doctors thought that families were not careful enough in the handling of excreta from typhoid patients and so were much in favor of Mr. Sedgwick's plan.

STATE OFFICIALS IN TOWN.

Chief Wade of the District Police and Several Inspectors Here.

Rufus R. Wade of Boston, chief of the Massachusetts district police force, arrived at the Wilson last night accompanied by Inspector J. T. White of Arlington, J. A. Moore of Boston, and S. M. Dyson of Worcester. In company with Col. F. W. Merriam, a local member of the force, they visited the normal school site this forenoon and looked about town somewhat.

This afternoon the party, accompanied by Col. Merriam, went to Adams on an electric car and took the 3:10 train for Pittsfield. They will be in Springfield tonight and will visit Worcester before separating.

Inspector White is an old friend of School Superintendent Hall, who came from Arlington, and the two had a pleasant visit at the Wilson this noon.

A Saloon Keeper Assigns.

Peter Synder, who has kept a saloon at the corner of Holden and Centre streets for several years, made an assignment today. Sheriff C. L. Frink is the assignee.

MASSACRES RENEWED.

Armenians In a Turkish Town Become Victims of Moslem Hatred.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 15.—Reliable news has been received here that 50 Armenians were killed and a number wounded at Akhisar, in the vilayet of Adin, on the Anatolian railway, by a Moslem mob. The slaughter occurred on Oct. 9, which was market day, when many Armenians had gathered from adjacent villages. Early in the morning a Turkish mob, finding that the Armenians were not armed, picked a quarrel and shot one of them. There was then raised on all sides the cry: "Why hesitate to massacre the infidels?"

A mob of Turks, armed with revolvers and knives, then looted the market and massacred the helpless Armenians. Their bodies were thrown into the wells. It is stated that the mudir was responsible for the attack.

The panic is reviving in Constantinople on account of the continued isolated attacks, and the Armenians are again flocking into the churches. The police disregard the safe conduct cards given to the Armenians by the foreign embassies.

The French, Russian and British ambassadors yesterday presented to Said Pasha, the minister of foreign affairs, the final demands of the powers for Armenian reforms. If this is not accepted, an ultimatum will be presented. No further modifications will be permitted. The scheme drops the demand for a Christian high commissioner, but otherwise it is almost identical with the proposals of last May. It is believed, however, that Russia hesitates to force an acceptance, because she fears ultimate Armenian autonomy.

An Explanation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Naval officials here are very much concerned at reports from Norfolk that there has been prize fighting on board the flagship New York, but disavow the story. It has been the policy of the naval commanders to encourage the development of the men on ship board physically, and especially the qualities that go to make a good fighting man, for they have no use for pulkies. When Captain Evans took command of the New York, athletic classes were organized on board that vessel, and every sailor has been taught boxing. The men were encouraged to resort to this sport at leisure moments, and were supplied with the big pillow gloves that were not intended to permit a dangerous blow. It is presumed that it has been some exhibition of this kind that has started the report that prize fighting has been going on.

FULLER FOR SHERIFF IS NOT A CANDIDATE.

Unanimously Nominated at the Republican County Convention Today.

WELLINGTON WAS NOT PRESENTED.

Post, Who Came to Nominate Wellington, Seconded the Nomination of Fuller. Great Applause at the Result. The County Ticket.

[From our Special Reporter.]

The Republican county convention was held at Pittsfield today and Charles W. Fuller was unanimously nominated for sheriff.

Owing to the great interest taken in the matters to come before the convention there was so much talk on the prospect that the convention was not called to order until 11:30.

Among those in the ante convention discussions were some of the most prominent Republicans of these parts such as Wellington Smith of Lee and Congressman A. B. Wright of this town. These men occupied front seats at the convention. The Wellington and Fuller men were decidedly active during the morning hours and it seemed as if the Wellington men had hopes of Mr. Wellington's nomination up almost to the hour the convention convened. The influence brought to bear by the leading men present was sufficient to bring about a most satisfactory result at the convention. It was agreed that Fuller of North Adams should be nominated by acclamation and Post of Lenox who had come to nominate Wellington took great pleasure in seconding the nomination of Charles W. Fuller.

In the absence of the chairman of the county committee A. B. Mole of Adams called the convention to order. On motion of S. P. Thayer, W. M. Prince of Pittsfield was made chairman. On motion of C. Q. Richmond O. C. Bidwell of Great Barrington was chosen secretary. A. B. Mole of Adams, Wellington Smith of Lee, G. W. Smith of Pittsfield, T. G. Ramsdell of Great Barrington and George Z. Dean of Cheshire were chosen a committee on credentials, and reported eighty-four delegates present from twenty-seven towns and one city. There were eleven from North Adams and nine from Pittsfield. Mr. Ayer of ward 7, Pittsfield, a strong Wellington man, had no credentials, but on motion of S. P. Thayer, a Fuller man, he was admitted.

The nomination of county commissioner was then proceeded with. A. B. Mole of Adams nominated J. K. Anthony of Adams. Mr. Mole spoke of Mr. Anthony's good record. Wellington Smith, who nominated Mr. Anthony three years ago, was glad to second the nomination and it was made by acclamation. Before the motion was put John F. Wolfe of Pittsfield got up to put J. H. C. Church of Great Barrington in nomination for special commissioner for the southern part of the county. He was ruled out of order then and before he could gain his feet after the motion was carried Wellington Smith got the floor and nominated H. C. Phelps of Lee for special commissioner, explaining that Mr. Phelps had withdrawn last year in favor of Mr. Dalzell and now deserved some recognition by the party. A. B. Wright of North Adams seconded the nomination of Mr. Phelps and it was made by acclamation.

George B. Waterman of Williamstown nominated T. W. Richmond as commissioner for the northern part of the county and Mr. Richmond was accepted. S. P. Thayer nominated F. R. Shaw of Adams for register of probate. Mr. Post of Lenox seconded the nomination. Mr. Shaw was chosen unanimously.

Then came the fight of the day or rather that which was to be the fight of the day, the nomination of a candidate for sheriff. Wellington Smith made an able speech in favor of Charles W. Fuller of North Adams showing how common Mr. Fuller is to the greater part of the county being of Lee ancestry, born in Great Barrington, educated in Pittsfield and having become known while at North Adams. Last time, Mr. Wellington pointed out, when the skies were dark Mr. Fuller came forward and stood for his party; now when they are bright he should be given a chance to win. Thomas Post spoke and said Mr. Wellington's name would not be presented to the convention. Mr. Wellington, who was once in the office, would have taken the nomination had it been given him, but he preferred Republican harmony to all else. Mr. Post seconded Mr. Fuller's nomination. Congressman A. B. Wright and George B. Waterman both spoke in favor of Mr. Fuller and the result received with great applause.

S. P. Thayer moved that the county committee be increased to seven and that the newly elected one be instructed to help the acting one to make an aggressive campaign. Wellington Smith of Lee, J. H. Manning of Pittsfield, Col. John Bracewell of North Adams, Parley Russell of Great Barrington, R. H. Burgett of Cheshire, A. B. Mole of Adams and George B. Waterman of Williamstown were chosen the new committee. The convention adjourned at 12:10 o'clock and all the delegates were requested to go to the American house for dinner. The invitation was generally accepted.

—Daniel Horn was accused in court this morning of drunkenness, and his case was continued two weeks. George Carey and Walter Keating, two boys, were accused of stealing butter from Mr. Howe and were discharged.

—Among the many interesting articles which are to appear in the Fort Massachusetts paper of November 24 will be a letter to Dr. Ellis S. Hawley from John Quincy Adams. The letter is an answer to an invitation of the citizens of Adams and a vicinity sent by a committee in charge of the proposed laying of a foundation of a monument on the ground where the old fort stood. The letter was dated Washington, D. C., May 28, 1844, and in it Mr. Adams expresses regret at being unable to be present and sends his sympathy and best wishes for success to all who are engaged in such a praiseworthy undertaking. The letter is in the possession of Miss Hawley of Church place and is highly prized by her.

IS NOT A CANDIDATE.

C. A. Card Gives His Decision to the Representative District Voters.

HIS BUSINESS REQUIRES HIS TIME.

He Speaks of the Many Inducements to Run, States He Was Never in the Field and Thanks His Friends for Their Interest.

The exclusive news given in yesterday's TRANSCRIPT that there was an attempt being made to bring an independent Republican candidate into the representative field was something of a surprise to many though a few of the more initiated were aware of the movement. After the announcement there followed a conflict of political power which has resulted in good for the Republican party locally, it is claimed. As was stated in this paper, Mr. Card makes a statement today to the voters of the first Berkshire representative district in which he declines to be a candidate for legislative honors, giving as his reasons for so declining that his business interests would not permit of him entering the field. He takes care to state that at no time or place has he said he was in it. He thanks his friends for their confidence in him. Mr. Card's refusal to run will be a surprise and disappointment to many. The surprise will come from the fact that there was so much to indicate that he had decided to enter the contest. The disappointment will be to those who desired to see an independent candidate in the field. Their hopes need not die yet. There is generally a number of men who love to be known as independent when they can see advancement of self in appearing so and there may be another independent candidate in the field provided influence is not brought to bear on him to let him see his interests would conflict in the getting of votes. Mr. Card's letter is in full as follows:

"TO THE VOTERS OF FIRST BERKSHIRE REPRESENTATIVE DISTRICT: It becomes necessary for me to state to the voters of the first Berkshire district that I am not an independent candidate for Representative, notwithstanding the strong inducements and support that have been offered me. My business relations are such that they will require most of my time this winter. I have at no time or place said that I was in the field as a candidate but have been urged by many from all parts of the district to allow my name to be used. Thinking those who have put so much confidence in me, and done so much to further my interest, I remain yours, C. A. CARD."

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

—Two more applications were received for membership in the Italian Republican club yesterday.

—The Linwood mills has donated a number of excellent blankets for use in the ambulance.

—The Women's Relief corps meet this evening at Mrs. Melton's house, 10 Union street.

—A. S. Alford has sold for Edward N. Smith a house and lot on Richview avenue to Stephen P. Partridge for $2,000.

The Epworth league committee will meet tomorrow evening to consider the question of giving an entertainment of some kind in the near future.

These rooms will be thrown open to those attending the ball in the large drill hall of the new building. The Philharmonic orchestra of Springfield will furnish music and Michael Ryan will be prompter. Caterer Hammond will serve the collation.

Mrs. Haskell Seen in Albany

A Zlonite woman who was in Albany last week claims that while she was in the depot there she saw Mrs. Haskell who took French leave of her husband some time ago, as was thought, with another man. The man who was thought to have accompanied Mrs. Haskell when she left Zlonite was with her in Albany. The woman knows Mrs. Haskell personally and says she could not possibly have mistaken some one else for her, as she recognized both Mrs. Haskell and Edward Baker. Mrs. Haskell bowed to her and went out of the depot, and she saw no more of the pair.

The Fates are Against Him.

This morning was to have witnessed the marriage of Anna Dupre and Miss Dunals of Commercial street, but late postponed the ceremony. Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Dupre drove to North Adams with another young man and on the way home had the ill fortune to collide with another vehicle and have a smashup. He spent the night in the lockup and was in court this morning. Mr. Dupre was in no way to blame for the collision as the other young man was driving. The driver ran away this morning and left the brunt of the affair on Mr. Dupre, who was left off with a light fine.

WILLIAMSTOWN.

High School vs. Bloody Shirts.

The Williamstown high school football team played their first game this year Tuesday afternoon on Weston field with the "bloody shirt" team of Williams college. The game was hotly contested from start to finish and was a good exhibition of football, although the college team was much heavier than the school boys. The team work of the school team was exceptionally good for the first game of the season and they did much better than was expected against such a heavy team. They plainly showed the training of the varsity coach and with a little more practice will make a strong showing with the Manchester team Saturday.

The tackling of Keefe and Thompson and the long run of Williams for the high school and the playing of Knox and Davis of the bloody shirts were the features of the game. The final score was 6 to 4 in favor of the "bloody shirts."

Channing Sily of New York city, who has been occupying the Ward cottage for the summer, has returned home.

The Arabian Night received a careful production at the Columbia Opera house by the Howard Stock company. Mr. Ryan as Huminglop and Miss Renard as the circus girl deserves special credit for good work. The comedy in the hands of Mr. Mayo and Mr. Preston was well taken care of. Specialties introduced by Mr. Frey caught the house. Tonight the ever popular Ingomar will hold the boards. CAPITAL AND LABOR.

group stands in the midst of a competitive society and rates of wages and profits are largely determined by the market. It is probable that some economic advantages would be secured by such a combination of interests and efforts. It is probable that in an association working harmoniously the product would be enlarged, and there would be more to divide. And it is also probable that the societies organized upon this peaceful basis would have a decided advantage in the long run over societies organized on the basis of strife. The industrial groups which succeed in putting the Christian law into operation, are likely to be more prosperous than those which adhere to the pagan law. Still, so long as the great majority of these industrial groups stick to the pagan rule, the economic condition of the few who try to live by the Christian rule may not be very greatly improved.

9. It is always said that such a rule of life is wholly impracticable. On the contrary, it is in practice all about us. All traders profess to be governed by this principle; if the principle were really absurd they would not be likely to avow it. Many of them intend, to violate it, but their proclamation of it is a clear witness to its validity. There are laborers, also, who govern themselves by this law in all their relations with their employers. Most of us have had such people working for us; really they are not so very rare; there are more of them than we are sometimes willing to admit. And there are employers, too, whose principle of conduct is the Christian principle.

10. If, now, by any means the Christian church can get firm hold of this truth and make men believe it, an end will speedily come to industrial conflicts. There is much question as to whether the pulpit should deal with economic questions. With questions purely economic, if there are any such, the pulpit is certainly not called to deal. But the application of the law of Christ to every department of human life is the business of the church. Surely, there is need, in some quarters, of clearer ideas about what Christianity is, and more faith in its principles.

11. Beyond all question, capital, in its vast accumulations, is learning now to oppress labor in many ways. Taxation rests far more heavily upon the poor than upon the rich. Much property is concealed from the assessor, and the poor man's cottage, as a rule, is taxed two or three times as much in proportion to its value as the sky-scraping block of the millionaire. Great corporate properties, occupying the streets of our cities, are permitted to levy enormous tribute upon our industries, no small proportion of which comes from the meagre earnings of the workman.

Doubtless the workmen have themselves to blame for much of this; the political power is in their hands; if they were not so willing to follow the lead of the demagogues, and too firmly held by partisan bands, such burdens would not be bound upon them. Nevertheless, it is a crying injustice which the church of God should be as quick to mark and denounce as the prophets of Israel were to rebuke kindred iniquities in their generation.

A striking evidence of the growth of good will in this department of social life may be seen in the voluntary advance in wages during the past few months by hundreds of employers in all parts of the country. This advance has evidently come, in many cases, as an entire surprise to the wage receivers. In some cases no doubt it was intended to prevent a strike; even in those cases it evinces a better feeling than the demand is anticipated. In very many instances, however, it is the unadmitted dictate of the humanity of the employers; it shows a purpose to give their workmen not merely what they must but what they can.

SCURRILOUS POSTALS

Have Led to the Arrest of Rev.
Frank H. Smith of Cambridge.Marked Cards Said to Figure In DetectionFederal Authorities Followed Clues to Denver and Effected a Capture.CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 16.—Rev. Frank Hyatt Smith of the North Cambridge Congregational church was arrested yesterday afternoon at Denver for the United States authorities in Boston on the charge of sending scurrilous and defamatory postal cards through the mails in this city.
He was interviewed by the United States marshal at Denver, and taken before the United States commissioner. Chief Inspector Boynton of the Boston force received a dispatch from the inspector at Denver to that effect.For two weeks Mr. Smith had been shadowed, part of the time by private detectives and sometimes by postoffice inspectors. The newspapers have been telling of the work of detectives about the church and parochial residence of the North Avenue church.The Charge Against Smith is based on scurrilous and defamatory postal cards which certain members of the North Avenue church have been in receipt of some time. Chief Inspector Boynton suspected Smith, and is said to be able to connect him with the objectionable cards by means of a private mark which was placed upon the cards previous to their being sold to the clergyman by the superintendent of the Cambridge office.It is reported that so vile is the language on the cards that it was deemed best to keep them out of the mails, and that they were removed from the box after being mailed by an inspector.The warrant for Smith's arrest was served some several days ago and a copy sent to Denver.Result of Church Row.
The arrest of Smith is the culmination of the internal dissensions which have shaken the church for some weeks past, and which led to the recent stormy meeting, which the presence of a police officer was insufficient to keep orderly, and which was marked by women fainting, men shouting and general disorder.Mr. Smith came to the church from New York, of which state he is a native, five years ago. He is a brilliant speaker, has an excellent and attractive manner, and is a member of the English language and is a historian of no little note. He was a thorough student of the Bible, and his sermons were listened to with great interest by an ever-increasing congregation.In fact, his reputation as a speaker spread rapidly, and he was connected with the church but a short time when permissible increase to the membership of the church was noticed, until now it is one of the largest congregations in the city. He has many friends, and when it became known that there was dissension in the church they looked to his standard.

A TRIPLE HOLIDAY

With Plenty of Amusement For Citizens of Waterbury and Visitors.WATERBURY, Conn., Oct. 16.—Waterbury yesterday entertained more guests than ever before in its history, 5000 or more, in its triple celebration—the dedication of a new $100,000 Odd Fellows' building, the observance of the 50th anniversary of the order in the city and the initial recognition of the new Connecticut holiday, Lincoln's day, a creation of the last general assembly. The city, in gala attire, was given over to its guests. The factories were shut down, schools closed and business was entirely suspended at noon.Luncheon was served at 11 o'clock at all the public halls. This and the subsequent dinner were tendered by the citizens of Waterbury. The forenoon was given over to the inspection of the new building and hall.At 1:30 the big procession marched over a five-mile course. The parade was reviewed by the city government, as well as town and school officers and visiting grand officers.At 3 o'clock dinner was served under tents on the large fenced-in lawn of the Waterbury Watch company. The waitresses were 200 women employees of the watch company, and 100 from other factories, all in uniform.At 5 o'clock the grand officers and special guests gave a reception at the new hall.The dedication took place at 7:30 p. m., and the dedication ball at city hall from 8:30 to 3 a. m.

Maine's L. O. F. Encampment.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 16.—The Maine grand encampment of Odd Fellows held its annual meeting last night. Grand Patriarch Kenworthy reviewed the work of the year, and reported the encampment of Maine to be in a flourishing condition.
Grand Scribe Stoner's report shows that there are 67 encampments in Maine, with a total membership of 5233. The total amount paid out in relief in the past year was $14,807 and the receipts were $22,433.
The current expenses of the lodge were $2441 and the sum invested was $99,351.
The following officers were elected and installed: Grand patriarch, J. P. Mason; grand high priest, J. F. Oliver; grand senior warden, H. K. Colworth; grand scribe, B. C. Stone; grand treasurer, A. E.
Chase; grand junior warden, H. B.
Thoms; grand representative, G. E. Kel-worthy. The encampment voted to change the system of collecting dues from annual collections to semi-annual.

Husband Arrested.

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—Anna Pearson, 59 years of age, living at 163 Margaret street, was found dead in bed yesterday. Dr.
Burr pronounced her death to have been the result of natural causes, but several ladies of the house told the police such startling stories about the woman's husband having constantly beaten her, the authorities placed the husband under arrest, to await the result of an autopsy.
The woman in the house asserted that her husband has beaten the wife on several occasions, and are positive that she died from violence at his hands.

Promises to Be Good One.

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—The battleship Indiana, which left Cramps' shipyard Saturday for her official trip, dropped anchor last night off Boston light. The official course is 32 miles long, extending from Cape Ann to a point a little beyond Boon Island. A round trip over this course, containing about 140 miles, constitutes the official test. On Friday the official trial will be made. The gratifying feature of the Indiana's run to this port was the surprising lack of roll. The ship surprised everybody on board by her admirable behavior. One of England's battleships is said to have rolled 14 degrees, whereas the Indiana does not record a roll of even one degree. This gives her an almost stationary gun platform, a condition very much to be desired when the guns are fired in action.James N. Proulx, a prominent citizen of Middleton, N. Y., is dead, aged 74 years.
He was born in Boston.

SHOTS AT DEMOCRATS

Launched Forth at Campaign Meeting of New York Republicans.Warner Miller Talks on State and National Affairs.Ex-Minister Smith Pays His Respects to the Cleveland Administration.NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—In defiance of the request of certain leading politicians, Warner Miller last night leaped over the censor bars and launched forth at the Tammany army shivered while he took his plunge.It was characteristic of Mr. Miller that he should refuse to be swayed from advocating his Saratoga plank, declaring in "favor of the Sunday laws in the interest of labor and morality." He went further than that. He rebuked the effort to open the saloons legally on Sunday and denounced the local option plank of both local parties as a cowardly subterfuge.

WARNER MILLER.

Warner Miller said that the issues of this campaign were threefold, namely: National, state and municipal. Three years ago, he said, the country was enjoying the greatest success in its history.
The Republican party stood today where it always stood—for the protection of home industry and labor, and when it got back the reigns of government it would restore protection to its own industries.The Republican party had a bright history, both in war and peace. Three years ago the people saw fit to make a change.
The Democratic party's record was one of inability. Its Wilson bill had destroyed all the prosperity of the country—it was not a tariff for revenue, but a tariff for deficiency.

"Tammany Thieves."

The state issues of this campaign, the speaker said, were of the utmost importance, and if there were to be any reform in this state or city the Republicans must be very careful in electing the proper man to say and do the proper assembly to make it impossible for the band of thieves known as Tammany to regain control.Some years ago, he said, he ran for governor of this state on a high license platform and was elected, but counted out.
He declared himself in favor of high license. He said this because of continued misrepresentation of the opposition.Soon after the police department began a strict enforcement of the Sunday law, the cry was raised that it was an infringement of the unwritten law of personal rights and liberty. This was not so. This claim was found untenable by his father, Senator Hill, and then a shift was made to home rule. He asserted that instead of being opposed to home rule, the Republican party had done more for it than the Democratic party ever did.The personal liberty war-cry of Hill, when brought to hard facts, was to enable Tammany Hall to levy infamous taxes.
It would be an infringement of personal liberty for a saloon to be closed by the vote of the locality, it would be no more of an infringement for it to be closed by the vote of the state.In reference to the excise law and the forfeiting of the sale of liquor on Sundays, the speaker said that last summer Senator Hill had written two letters to a gentleman in this city, in one of which he said that in all probability the children in school would soon be instructed as to the evil effects of the use of wine, ciders and bicycles. "Just what Governor Hill knows about the evil effects of wearing coats, I leave to yourselves to judge," said Mr. Miller.The speaker then advocated a quiet and orderly Sunday, and said that if saloons were to be open, the same privileges should be extended to every other trade.

Smith's Argument.

Charles Emory Smith was the next speaker. Mr. Smith said: "The good people of New York have united this year, as they did last, for redemption from the thrall of Tammany Hall. Above and beyond all party considerations, you have abundant reason to draw the fangs and out the claws and starve the maw of the odious Tammany tiger."Mr. Smith compared the condition of the country for 15 years prior to Republican supremacy in 1861 under Democratic rule and the condition under Republican rule, saying that the balance of trade against us under the Democratic tariff of 1849 was $431,000,000, and for 15 years prior to the present administration, under Republican rule and a Republican tariff, the balance of trade in our favor was $1,650,000,000.In conclusion, he said: "The American people have been beaten with a might and majesty never before equalled." In the elections of last year they rolled up the colossal majority of 1,250,000 in protest and condemnation. They broke the solid south. They redeemed the house and well-nigh rescued the senate. They gave the authorities all the plenty of leisure to go back to the Belshazzar feast of the London Chamber of Commerce or to seek the refuge of the cabinet. They toppled off Springer and Holman and Bryan and Bland and every Democratic head that appeared above the surface. You in New York stormed and carried the battle of Tammany Hall."You and your countrymen gave the most imposing demonstration of American reason and conscience which we have ever witnessed, and it remains for you and them to repeat and emphasize that moral and patriotic uprising in such a way as to inspire fresh confidence in the integrity and perpetuity of American institutions."

Unconditional Amnesty.

BOMBAY, Oct. 16.—The Portuguese officials in Goa, finding themselves unable to resist the balance of trade against us, have offered the mutineers unconditional amnesty and immunity from any future penalty for their recent revolt on condition that they disarm.

Overturn in Roumania.

BUCUREST, Oct. 16.—The King of Rou-mania yesterday accepted the resignation of the entire Conservative cabinet. Later in the day Demeter Sturdza succeeded in forming a Liberal cabinet, in which he himself is the premier and minister of foreign affairs.

STATEHOOD AT STAKE.

Democrats Resent Mormons' Interference in Politics of Utah.Disruption of Church Among the PossibilitiesShould Democrats Carry Out Plans Which Have Already Been Formulated.SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 16.—Joseph F.
Smith, the chief counselor of President Woodruff of the Mormon church, says:
"My remarks made at the priesthood meeting are not susceptible of the meaning which individuals in both political parties have placed upon them. I was speaking upon church discipline, not upon politics at all."President Woodruff himself says, concerning the recent priesthood meeting, that there was not, according to his recollection, one word said about Democrats, Republican or politics. He further says:
"I consider the right of every man, woman and child on earth to enjoy their religion, let that religion be what it may, for that is between themselves and their Creator. So I say with regard to politics.
Every man has a right to enjoy his political belief unmolested. There is not a Doricent in Utah who can truthfully say that I ever asked him to vote a Republican ticket. Neither can any Republican say I ever asked him to vote a Democratic ticket. A part of my own family are Republicans and part are Democrats."The Democratic state committee was in session all day Monday and Tuesday evening, and announced that but one feeling prevailed in regard to taking action on the alleged interference of the high officials of the Mormon church in political affairs, and that was that heroic measures must be taken and the question of political liberties of the people of Utah, irrespective of race and color, be settled once and for all. It was decided to recall the state convention at an early date to consider the proposition of withdrawing the Democratic ticket and substituting therefor an anti-statehood ticket, or taking some other decisive step in regard to church interference in politics.The feeling is more bitter than at any time since the discussion commenced. The opinion is general that if Thatcher and Roberts can hold out against the Mormon church that powerful body will be disrupted and Utah can then enter the Union free and untrammelled. On the other hand, should the church triumph, it is claimed that the Democratic ticket would be withdrawn, and the cause of the prominent Mormon members of the party would secede and statehood would probably be deferred.

Old Question Revived.

The remarks which led up to this crisis were uttered, it is said, by Joseph F.
Smith of the Mormon church, at the recent priesthood meeting. They were to the effect that numerous men high in the councils of the church, and particularly Messrs. Thatcher and Roberts, candidates on the Democratic ticket for the senate and congress, had accepted nominations for political offices without consulting with the president of the church, which was contrary to the rules of the church.
George Q. Cannon was reported to have endorsed Mr. Smith's remarks.The words of the church authorities are taken as a command that those who have gone into politics without the advice and consent of the church must retire from that field.The declaration was reviewed with great anxiety by Gentiles and the progressive young Mormons, who feared a return to the old conditions which prevailed when the Mormon church authorities ruled with a rod of iron.Strong and bitter anti-statehood talk was immediately indulged in by those who hitherto have favored statehood.
The Democratic state committee, called a meeting of the committee for Monday with the avowed purpose of dissolving the Democratic party and forming an antistatehood party, which has been carried out. Powers is strongly supported, it is said, by the Gentile Republicans, the progressive element of the Mormons, independent of party.It is believed that a fight is on with the church, and if the latter does not recede absolutely from the position, anti-statehood movement will be at once inaugurated.At Logan, Sunday at the close of the Mormon Sunday school, Bishop Carson called the teachers together, and referring to the criticism made by a church official on Thatcher and J. J. Rawlins, who secured the passage of the statehood bill, said that from this the people would know whom to vote against.

Sackville and Bayard.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Truth says that the statement that the Sackville pamphlet was intended to drive Ambassador Bayard from London is absolute nonsense.
Sackville, it cannot be denied, however, that Mr. Bayard availed himself of Lord Sackville's injudicious act to excite an anti-English agitation to assist the candidacy of Mr. Cleveland, and, therefore, it reflects great honor upon England that our government has been so dignified and magnanimous to welcome, as it has, Mr.
Bayard as an ambassador.

Knot Securely Tied.

PARIS, Oct. 16.—M. Jussereau, formerly secretary of the French embassy in London, was married yesterday to Miss Elizabeth, an American. The ceremony was first performed at the American church (Protestant Episcopal) and then at the Eglise Catholique (Roman Catholic).
All the members of the diplomatic corps and many other notables were present.

On the Midway.

ATLANTA, Oct. 16.—Temporary excitement was created on the exposition grounds yesterday by a fire on the Midway.
The explosion of a gasoline stove in the old plantation set the frame structure on fire, and there was a panic among the frankies on the Midway. The fire was soon under control, but the old plantation exhibit was destroyed.

Nothing New.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—There is still no official confirmation here of the reported assassination of the Queen of Korea, and although there may be political motives for a concealment for a time of such a tragedy, officials here think it possible the queen may be alive, as the dispatches are somewhat doubtful on this point.

At Work Again.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Secretary Carlist and Assistant Secretary Hamlin returned from Boston yesterday.

Lynn Moulders May Strike.

LYNN, Mass., Oct. 16.—The iron mould-unanimously last night to strike. Super-

Graves in Moosehead Lake.

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 16.—R. M. King of Boston and Mike Collins of Oldtown, a guide, were drowned in Moosehead lake while coming down the lake in a canoe.

nebec.

TRAMPS ARE SUSPECTED

Of Having Possibly Robbed and Murdered a Pawluget Man.PAWLUCKET, R. I., Oct. 16.—Archie Connelly started out Monday morning on his usual route delivering beer in kegs and bottles, driving a large two-horse team.
He delivered the beer at a roadside, where he showed a large roll of bills. His next stopping place was about half a mile down the road, through thick woods, but he never arrived there, and it is supposed that he was waylaid in the woods and murdered.Connelly was about 27 years old. He was frequently intrusted with large sums of money. It was supposed that some tramp saw the money displayed by Connelly and laid for him in the woods, and after committing the crime drove the team still farther into the woods. Two tramps were seen about the roadside very near the time that Connelly was there.

Mrs. Howe's Logic.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 16.—The main feature of yesterday's session of the Social Party congress was the address of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, who wrote of "Moral Equality Between the Sexes." Her address was devoted to the following: "The relations of sexes are either the crown of society, or its ruin, they either build the state upon a sound and true foundation, or they set up fantastic structures upon the quicksand, which speedily become yawning chasms of loss and misery. Let the romances of our youth look forward to married life on a plane of mutual dignity and equality. In my view, the sense of equality is a most important condition in marriage and the surest guarantee of its soundness. Do what you will, inferiority of ability will involve as its sequence inferiority of moral responsibility. The inferiority committed to the keeping of women are too momentous to be entrusted by any man to his inferior."

Fresh Outbreak of Cretans.

ATHENS, Oct. 16.—A band of 1000 armed Christians recently met at Chios, island of Crete, to petition the Sultan of Turkey to restore the charter abolished in 1880, and for a reform of taxation and of the gendarmerie. The governor of Crete sent troops against the petitioners, who withdrew to the mountain fastnesses, whether the troops did not dare to follow. They now threaten to foment a rebellion in favor of annexation to Greece. The situation is perilous.

Three Alleged Firebugs.

ROCHESTER, Oct. 16.—The grand jury yesterday presented an indictment against Rev. John M. Fitzgerald, rector of the Holy Cross church at Charlotte, on the crime of arson in the second degree, in setting fire to a barn owned by himself, which adjoined a dwelling house. John and Nora Cronin, two servants of Fitzgerald, are indicted on the charge of arson in the first degree in setting fire to the parochial schoolhouse.

Fate Already Sealed.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 16.—Jeff Ellis, the negro charged with criminal assault, and who was captured near Harts Springs, Miss., is on his way back to Braden, the scene of his crime, in custody of three officers. He has confessed the offense, and also says he outraged and murdered Mrs. Wilcox. In this case the woman's husband went crazy from the shock, and died. He will certainly be lynched on arrival at Braden.

How Story Died.

ROME, Oct. 16.—The granddaughter of William Wetmore Story states that her grandfather had been in better health and spirits than he had been for some time past and had been able to do quite a lot.
Her mother heard him moaning at 8 o'clock in the morning of Oct. 7, and while she was arranging his pillow he died in her arms suddenly and without suffering from paralysis of the heart.

A Short Postponement.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—The trial of Theodore Durrant was yesterday continued until Monday next on account of the sickness of Attorney Duprey, the leading counsel for the defense. Judge Murphy announced that the trial would be resumed next Monday, whether Mr. Du-prey should have recovered in the meantime or not.

Wholesale Pardon.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Governor Altgeld yesterday pardoned 112 girls from the Erastus Industrial school. The pardon the institution. The girls range in age from 6 to 21 years.
